HISTORY

PROFESSORS BALE, CORTE, ESEM, CHAMBERS, EDDON, HARRINGTON, HERSELTINE, HEVY, HESS, JENENS, KAPPLING, PHILLIPS, POTT, REYNOLDS, SACHS, UHLER (visiting); ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS CARTENSON, FARMER; ASSISTANT PROFESSOR BOARDMAN; INSTRUCTOR PETERVICH; LECTURER KJELSTADT.

When history is offered as one of the required studies in the general course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts (see page 43), the requirement must be satisfied by a continuous 8-credit course extending through two semesters.

The courses in history are divided into three groups. (a) Courses numbered under 100 carry only undergraduate credit. The introductory courses 3, 5, and 10 (see details below) are the courses open to freshmen. (b) Courses numbered in the 100-series continue in the direction of greater specialization the work begun in the introductory courses; they may be elected by students who have the necessary preparation. (c) Courses numbered above 200 are open only to graduate students.

MAJOR FIELDS OF CONCENTRATION. (a) European History. (b) American History. (c) History of Culture. (d) Hispanic Studies (see page 70).

* The subjects of these seminars vary from semester to semester and are announced by bulletin board and in the time table.

Students with a major in social sciences electing to work in history will elect one of these fields of concentration, and offer not less than 30, or 35, or 35 credits in history, the number depending upon the students' preparatory school training in history. Students entering with two or more units in history are required to take not less than 30 credits on the college level; those with one unit, 35 credits; those entering college with no history, 35 credits. These courses should include History 2 or 5, or 136 or 139, one other introductory course (History 5, 5*, 5, or 10), History 4 (6 credits), and at least 12 credits in advanced history courses (i.e., numbered 100-199) taken in residence at the University of Wisconsin, 9 credits of which must be confined to European History or American History, except as specified below for Field of Concentration (c).

Courses 12 (3 credits) and 22 (4 credits) of the Department of Integrated Studies are accepted for purposes of the history major as satisfying the requirement of History 5, 5*, or 22 and are reckoned as Medieval History; their credits are computed within the block of 30-35-35 credits required for the history major.

Field of Concentration (c) requires either (i) History 5 (3 credits), History 10 (6 credits), History 2 (6 credits) or History 4 (6 credits); or (ii) History 5 (6 credits and 8 credits) or History 10 (6 credits) or History 4 (6 credits), and advanced history courses up to the minimum of 30 credits. It also requires an attainment examination in Latin and in one modern language, and contemplates a supervised selection of courses in non-historical subjects within the field of concentration. It is preferable for majors in this field to select their major in their sophomore year.

Of the 15 credits in advanced courses, 2 credits in each semester of the senior year may, in the judgment of the advisor, be assigned to the preparation of a thesis (History 100-A) or a thesis course (History 100-B) in the field of concentration. In addition to the courses in history, the major in Fields of Concentration (a) and (b) requires Economics 1a, Political Science 23, Sociology 110, and Geography 1-2 are recommended. A major in social sciences who elects (a), (b), or (c) as his field of concentration may be admitted to advanced independent work at the beginning of his junior year provided that (i) he has a 2.5 grade-point average for his first two years; (2) he has completed the required freshmen and sophomore work in history; and (3) he is recommended for independent work by three of his sophomore instructors of whom one must be a member of the Department of History.

JOINT MAJOR IN HISTORY AND HISTORY OR SCIENCE. This joint major will consist of 18 credits in introductory courses: History 2, 3, 5, or 10, 6 credits; History 4, 6 credits; History of Science 1, 6 credits; and 18 credits in advanced courses, no less than 6 in either field (history or history of science); total, 36 credits.

TEACHING MAJOR AND MINOR. See the School of Education.

VII. HISTORY OF SCIENCE

The Department of History will accept for credit toward an undergraduate major in History as many as 6 credits in the History of Science, in courses to be selected by the student from among the following: History of Science 120 (Antique and medieval science) Ye; 6 credits; 150 (Early modern science) sem.; 4 credits; or 170 (Modern science) sem.; 3 credits; and the Department of History recommends as electives the other courses listed here and not taken for credit toward the major in history.

HISTORY OF SCIENCE

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR CLAGETT; ASSISTANT PROFESSOR R. SUFFER, chairman.

The courses in the history of science are designed to give a general knowledge of the development of science, its fundamental ideas, its men and its methods. An elementary knowledge of at least one science is required, and a previous course in history is desirable. No course in this department is open to freshmen.

For a major in History of Science 32 credits of historical work are required and one year of advanced work in a department within the Divisions of Biological Science or Physical Sciences.

For the historical work at least 18 credits must be offered from the history of science courses listed under Group A below and at least 6 credits from the history courses listed under Group B below. The remaining credits may be selected from any of the courses listed under Groups A, B, or C or similar courses which may be added in the future.

Any student wishing to major in the History of Science must have his program in fulfillment of these requirements approved by the department. If he is considering advanced work in the field, it is strongly advised that he make early plans to acquire the foreign languages he will need as tools for research.
