Introduction

This course introduces students to key themes in the social, political, and cultural history of Europe from the fall of Napoleon to the twenty first century. We will ask how and why Europe came to dominate the world in the nineteenth century and why it lost that dominance in the twentieth. Why did Europe give birth both to models of democracy and social equality but also to dictatorship and terror? Why has Europe been such a laboratory for nationalism and does the emergence of the European Union signal the end of this epoch? These are some of the many questions that we will address over the course of the semester.

Attendance and participation in weekly discussion sections is mandatory. You must complete all the assigned reading before your weekly section meeting. We expect students to come to section prepared for an in-depth and wide ranging discussion of the issues raised by the class readings. We are not looking for “right” answers but for original thinking on your part. Students are responsible for all the materials presented in lecture. The lectures are not based on the textbook and they offer perspectives and materials that are not available in the readings.

Objectives: This is an introductory course that requires no previous familiarity with the historical discipline or with Europe. In this class you will:

- Learn how to distinguish primary and secondary sources
- Learn how to make concise arguments (1 sentence; 1 page)
- Learn how to make clearly written and persuasive interpretation of the past
- Learn how to use different kinds of sources (primary sources; novels; secondary sources) in support of your arguments and interpretations
- Gain an in-depth understanding of the main themes in the political, cultural and social history of Europe from the fall of Napoleon to the twenty first century. Understand the relationship between the present and the past.

Requirements: There will be one in class midterm (October 23), one two-hour final examination, and a map quiz that will be given in section. In addition all students are required to write four fifty word sentences in answer to a question, three one page response papers on documents, one map quiz, and two 6 page papers on assigned topics.
Papers will be based on the readings and the lectures and require no outside research (papers based on outside research will not be accepted).

Grading will be based on the examinations, the papers, as well as your participation in the discussion sections. The exams count for 30% of the grade (midterm = 10%; final = 20%), the papers 40%, and discussion 30%. The discussion grade will be attributed by your TA and will be based on attendance, participation in discussion, the three one-page papers, the four fifty word sentences, and the map quiz. Students who miss more than one discussion section without a valid excuse will lose points on their section grades. Those who attend only a few section meetings during the semester place will fail this component of the class and place themselves at a high risk of failing the class altogether. So be forewarned!

We expect you to hand in your own work and not to borrow sentences or sentence fragments from books, articles, or the web. In other words, all your sentences should be of your own making (if you use more than three successive words from a book, you should put them in quotation marks). Students are urged to familiarize themselves with the rules and guidelines concerning plagiarism -- any cases of plagiarism or cheating will be dealt with severely. Downloading material from the web and claiming it as your own is a form of plagiarism. To learn more about quoting and paraphrasing check the Writing Center’s excellent tips at http://www.wisc.edu/writing/Handbook/QuotingSources.html Further information on the University’s policies on plagiarism can be found at http://students.wisc.edu/saja/misconduct/misconduct.html (watch the video). If you are unclear about what you should or should not be doing, please don’t hesitate to ask.

Electronic devices. Please turn electronic devices off during lectures. You may use a laptop to take notes, but we ask that you turn the wireless off and that you refrain from surfing the web, facebooking, and emailing your friends during class. The TAs will be sitting in various parts of the lecture hall and will be keeping an eye on your screens.

Office Hours: I will hold office hours Wednesday and Friday between 2:30 and 3:30. You can also speak with me after class or send me an email to set up an alternative meeting time. If you misplace this syllabus, please download a new copy at http://history.wisc.edu/Courses.htm or on the class Learn@UW website.
