HISTORY 319—THE VIETNAM WARS

Fall 2012
Mr. McCoy

I. COURSE PROCEDURES:

Class Meetings: Lectures are given in 2650 Humanities by Mr. McCoy on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 2:30-3:45 p.m. In addition, students will attend a one-hour discussion section each week conducted by the Teaching Assistants (TAs) for this course.

Office Hours:
--For Anthony Medrano, Humanities Room 4266, on Wednesdays from 12:00 to 2:00 p.m., or other hours by appointment (TEL: 890-3305). Messages may be left in Mailbox No. 5120 Humanities, or sent via e-mail to: <admedrano@wisc.edu>
--For Brett Reilly, Humanities Room 4266, on Tuesdays, 12:00 to 2:00 p.m. or other hours by appointment (TEL: 890-3305). Messages may be left in Mailbox No. 4102, or sent via e-mail to: <bmreilly@wisc.edu>
--For Alfred McCoy, in Room 5131 Humanities, Thursdays 12:00 to 2:00 p.m. and other hours by appointment (TEL: 263-1855). Messages may be left in Mailbox No. 5026, or sent via e-mail to: <awmccoy@wisc.edu>

Grading: Students shall complete three pieces of written work. On October 18, students shall take a mid term examination. On November 20, students shall submit a 5,000 word research essay with full footnotes and bibliographic references. During examination week on December 16, students shall take a two-hour final examination. Final grade shall be computed as follows:

---mid term take-home exam: 20%
---research essay: 30%
---discussion section mark: 30%
---final examination: 20%
---extra credit/film viewings: 3%

Course Requirements: For each of these assignments, there are different requirements for both the amount and form of work to be done:

a.) Mid term take-home examination: Select two questions from a list distributed in the lecture on Thursday, October 18, and turn in two short essays totaling five typed pages, with full endnote citations, at the start of class on Tuesday, October 23.

b.) Research Essay: Following format instructions under Paragraph VIII below, complete a 12 page research essay (with one-inch margins, 12 point font) on one of the topics listed in Paragraph VI. During the week of October 30, students should submit to their TAs a two-page outline with (a.) a one-paragraph abstract of the argument, (b.) an outline of the major points, and (c.) a bibliography. All essays must have: (1.) a minimum of 6 references to journal articles (at least two not found on the syllabus), (2.) at least 12 articles from the New York Times, (3.) two extended quotations, if relevant, from the “Pentagon Papers,” and, if not, from other official documents, (4.) two extended quotations with full citations from US Congressional reports on the war. The completed essay should be submitted in the lecture hall at 2:25 p.m., on Tuesday, November 20. --NB: For the New York Times, see <http://digital.library.wisc.edu/1711.web/proquesthn>

c.) Discussion Section Mark: Based on your attendance and participation, the teaching assistant will assign you a mark for your performance in the discussion section. Repeated absences will result in a loss of all marks for the section.

d.) Final Examination: In the space of two hours on December 16, starting at 7:45 a.m. students will sit a blue-book exam and answer two questions selected from a longer list of essay questions.

e.) Extra Credit: For a maximum of three extra-credit points, students can sign up in the first discussion section to attend three film showings, one feature and two documentary, at the Veterans’ Museum, and write a short, three-page reflection paper. See Section IV below for details of films and their showings.

Readings: Reflecting the controversy surrounding the subject, there is no single text for the study of the Vietnam Wars. Instead, the syllabus covers each topic with journal articles and book extracts, divided into “Required” and “Background” readings. To follow the lectures and their unfamiliar material, students should read selections from the “required” materials before the relevant lecture. In preparing essays on subjects related to the lecture topics, consult the “background” readings for bibliographic references. These readings are available from several sources:

Required Texts [Sold at Rainbow Books, 426 W Gilman St., Tel: 257-6050]:

Optional Texts [Sold at Rainbow Books]:

Reference Works [College Library, H.C. White Building]:

Learn@UW [Available On-Line]: Through “Learn@UW”, available at <https://learnuw.wisc.edu/> or via the UW-Madison home page, students can access various materials for the course, including: the Course Syllabus, Glossary of Lecture Terms, Lecture outlines, and links to relevant outside resources.

Required Readings [Available at Campus Libraries]:
E-Reserve at the College Library holds all the Required Readings (articles and excerpts from books) marked below with an asterisk (*). The procedure for accessing e-reserves for our course is as follows: (1.) Students log-on to “MyUW”; (2.) go to the “Academic” tab; and, (3.) next to the courses that students are registered for, go to “Library/Reserves’ link” and click on the link beside History 319.

The Reserve Room in H.C. White Library has most of the required and many of the background readings on reserve.

The Memorial Library has, with few exceptions, all the books and journal articles cited in the syllabus.
II. REQUIRED WEEKLY READINGS [Readings on e-Reserve are marked *]:

Week One (September 4): The Pre-colonial Vietnamese State As Context for War

Week Two (September 11): The French Conquest

Week Three (September 18): Vietnamese Nationalism

Week Four (September 25): The Rise of the Communist Party

IV. FILM VIEWING – Extra-Credit Sessions & Suggested Titles:

---Extra-Credit Cinema Program: For a maximum of three extra-credit points, students can sign up in the first discussion section to attend four film showings, one feature and three documentaries in 2650 Humanities. To receive credit, students shall view all films and write a single, three-page double-spaced reflection paper on a topic assigned by the TA. The films will be shown at these times and dates.:

1.) “Oh, Saigon” (Week 6, Wednesday, October 10, 4:15 pm)
2.) “Two Days in October” (Week 9, Wednesday, October 31, 4:15 pm)
3.) “The Fog of War” (Week 10, Wednesday, November 10, 4:15 pm)
4.) “Bao Giò Cho Đ n Tháng M [When the Tenth Month Comes]” (Week 13, Wednesday, November 28, 4:15 pm)

---Discussion Section Film Selections: Selections from the following documentary films, running no more than 15 minutes, will be shown in sections to stimulate discussion.

1.) “The Weather Underground” (Bullfrog Productions)
2.) “Memories of a Massacre” (“60 Minutes,” CBS Television).
3.) “The Trial of Henry Kissinger”
4.) “Winter Soldier”
5.) “The War at Home”
--Films in Lecture: Short segments, usually less than five minutes each, will be shown in Lecture:

1.) “The Weather Underground” (Mark Rudd interview).
2.) “Vietnam: A Television History” (McNamara, Tonkin Gulf)
3.) “Winter Soldier” (pacification footage)
4.) “Memories of a Massacre” (Bob Kerrey, Gerhard Klan interviews)
5.) “Vietnam: A Television History” (Nixon, Cambodia).
6.) “Going Upriver” (Kerry speech to Congress, VVAW)
7.) “Hearts and Minds”

--Miscellaneous Films: The films listed below are all highly recommended and are available on video at the more specialist Madison area video outlets:

1.) “Hearts and Minds” (Oscar Winner, 1974, Best Documentary)
2.) “Vietnam Requiem”
3.) “Vietnam: Year of the Pig”
4.) “The Quiet American” (black and white; with Audie Murphy)
5.) “The Quiet American” (color; with Michael Caine)
6.) “Born on the Fourth of July”
7.) “Full Metal Jacket”
8.) “Platoon”
9.) “Heaven and Earth”
10.) “The Lost Battalion” (French feature film)
11.) “Casualties of War”
12.) “Apocalypse Now”
13.) “Indochine”
14.) “We Were Soldiers”
15.) “Winter Soldier”
16.) “Going Up River”

--Learning Support Services in Van Hise Hall: This on-campus media center has a collection of Vietnam feature films and documentaries that can provide visual imagery that will help this chronicle of colonialism, revolution, diplomacy, and battles come alive. Among the films available are:

1.) “The War at Home” - HS1.004
2.) “Apocalypse Now”- ID2.020
3.) “Hearts of Darkness” (VHS) - ID2.021
4.) “The Vietnam War” (PBS series) - ID2.006
5.) “Indochine” - FR2059.149
6.) “The Trial of Henry Kissinger”- HS1.016
7.) “The Fog of War” (DVD) - HS1.018
8.) “The Weather Underground” (DVD) - HS1.020
9.) “Vietnam: In the Year of the Pig” (VHS) - HS1.019
10.) “Memories of a Massacre” (60 Minutes) - HS1.017
11.) “Bombies” (DVD) - ID2.141

V. VACATION READING--Suggested Fiction and Non-Fiction Titles:

1.) Bao Ninh, Sorrows of War.
2.) Tim O’Brien, In the Lake of the Woods.
3.) Tim O’Brien, The Things they Carried.
4.) Graham Greene, The Quiet American.
5.) Jean Larteguy, Yellow Fever.
6.) Jean Larteguy, The Bronze Drum.
7.) Danielle Trussoni, Falling Through the Earth.
8.) Lewis B. Puller, Jr., Fortunate Son.
9.) Michael Herr, Dispatches.
VI. MAJOR ESSAY QUESTIONS:

1.) Nationalism: By balancing biography with the history of modern Vietnamese nationalism, explain how Ho Chi Minh emerged as an effective leader of Vietnam’s anti-colonial struggle.

2.) Eisenhower's Domino Theory: In a famous speech in 1954, President Eisenhower warned that should the Communists prove victorious in Vietnam, the rest of the countries of Southeast Asia would “topple like a row of dominoes” to a monolithic and expansionist Communism. Was this an accurate assumption? Please discuss some of the relevant aspects of Vietnamese communism and history that would either support or undermine such an understanding.

3.) The U. S. Role in the Coup against Diem: One Asian expert once said: “It is fair to say that the overthrow of Ngo Dinh Diem in November of 1963 would not have occurred without at least the tacit approval of the U.S.” Analyze the dynamics of Diem’s downfall and weigh the role of the United States in a wider context.

5.) Tonkin Gulf Incident: After voting on the Tonkin Gulf Resolution, Senator Wayne Morse from Oregon said: “I believe that history will record that we have made a great mistake in subverting and circumventing the Constitution of the United States. By means of this resolution ... we are in effect giving the President war making powers in the absence of a declaration of war. I believe that to be a historic mistake.” Trace the development of the Tonkin Gulf incident and the Tonkin Gulf resolution, indicating whether you agree with Morse. Please explain and document your position fully.

6.) War in the Villages: Discuss the character of the Vietnamese village and explain why the US-directed pacification policy, including the Phoenix Program, largely failed there between 1959 and 1969.

7.) Tet Offensive: Was the 1968 Tet offensive a simple US intelligence failure or did it represent the inability of the White House, the Pentagon, and MACV to understand the deeper politics of the war? From this perspective, discuss the impact of this battle on the war in Vietnam and the war at home in the United States.

8.) My Lai Massacre: As his court martial began, one unnamed American told a reporter, “Rusty Calley is a scapegoat.” Using this remark as point of departure, examine U. S. military counter-insurgency tactics in the years surrounding the My Lai incident and determine, in light of recent revelations about the “Tiger Force” and other atrocities, to what extent civilian killings were an exception, a manifestation, or a component of US Army pacification.

9.) Cambodia and Laos: Analyze the impact of US political and military policy upon either Cambodia or Laos between 1965 and 1975.

10.) War crimes: Prominent intellectuals such as Noam Chomsky, Bertrand Russell and Jean Paul Sartre have argued that the U. S. government committed war crimes while fighting in Indochina. Focusing on the case of ex-Senator Robert Kerrey and the events at Thanh Phong village, determine whether his actions, and the larger Phoenix program, were war crimes as defined by the 1949 Geneva Convention. Should ex-Senator Kerrey be indicted, like Lt. Calley, for war crimes?
11.) The Grunt's War: Analyze the changing quality of combat in Vietnam between 1965 and 1972, focusing on its impact upon the discipline within the US Army and upon the individual American soldier.

12.) The Anti-war Movement: The anti-war movement is largely remembered as a student movement. To what degree is this true? What were the various motivations that people had to be opposed to the war in Indochina? What were the various arguments they used against it? Consider the opposition that emerged from among students, blacks, soldiers, workers and women.

13.) Vietnamization: When recalling President Nixon's support for Vietnamization, Richard Smyser, a State Department official, said that, “For domestic and political reasons American troops had to be gotten out of there.” Explain those domestic and political reasons.

14.) CIA Covert Operations: One scholar has said, “The Vietnam War is Exhibit A for the abolition of the CIA.” Explore the role of the major CIA covert operations in the period 1963 to 1975--including Diem’s ouster, the Desoto missions, the CORDS/Phoenix Program, and the Secret War in Laos--to assess whether reliance on covert operations contributed to the making of this quagmire.

15.) Christmas Bombings: At the Paris meetings in January 1973, Henry Kissinger claimed that “What has brought us to this point is the President's [Nixon's] firmness and the North Vietnamese belief that he will not be affected by either congressional or public pressures. Le Duc Tho [the North Vietnamese negotiator] has repeatedly made these points to me.” Do you agree with Kissinger that the bombings of 1972 were necessary to force the North Vietnamese to sign the peace agreement? Please explain and document your position fully.

16.) Congressional Cut-off of Aid to Vietnam: An anonymous South Vietnamese said: “Not only did the US not provide us with the assistance they had promised, but they did not even allow us to save face and dignity, the only assets of a poor country. It seemed better to be America's enemy than ally, for the enemy at least had America's respect.” Do you agree with those who argue that the staged termination of aid to South Vietnam caused its collapse? Please explain and document your answer fully.

17.) The Fall of Saigon and its Impact on America: After the Persian Gulf War, President George H.W. Bush said, “We have finally kicked the Vietnam Syndrome.” To what was he referring? What exactly is the “Vietnam Syndrome”? And how has it affected US foreign policy? Please explain and document your answer fully.

18.) Robert McNamara’s Apology: In his book In Retrospect, former U. S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara said: “We of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations who participated in the decisions on Vietnam acted according to what we thought were the principles and traditions of this nation. We made our decisions in light of those values. Yet we were wrong, terribly wrong.” Why does McNamara think the Johnson administration was “wrong”? Do you think that McNamara has correctly located the reasons for the US government's failure in Vietnam? Consider the policies of the Johnson administration in light of McNamara's retrospective assessment.

VII. HOW TO WRITE A RESEARCH ESSAY—THE THREE-STEP METHOD:

1.) STEP ONE--Reading & Research:
   a.) Sources/Research:
      1.) All good essays begin with the three “Rs”—reading, research, and reflection.
      2.) Like most essays, a History term paper is a distillation of its author's reading and reflections upon the subject at hand. The quality of an essay's expression and analysis usually reflects the depth of its author's reading.
b.) How to Read for an Essay:

1.) Using the course syllabus, begin with a general text to get an overview of the problem.
2.) Using the syllabus or textbooks, select more specific sources.
3.) As you read, begin forming ideas in your mind about:
   a.) your overall hypothesis, and;
   b.) the evidence you need or have found to support your argument.
4.) As you read, take notes, either on paper, or in the margin of a photocopy of the source. As you take notes, make sure you have the bibliographic information for your source: author, title, place of publication, publisher, and relevant pages.
5.) Towards the end of your reading, draw up an outline of the essay. If you are missing sources for the argument you would like to present, then do additional reading.

c.) Citing Your Sources:

1.) Assuming three paragraphs per page, you should have one source or note per paragraph.
2.) Every idea that is not your own and every major body of data you use in your essay should be sourced. In particular, quotations must be sourced.
3.) Use end notes or footnotes in the following format:

4.) For a second, non-sequential citation of the same work a short citation:

   27. McCoy, Southeast Asia Since 1800, pp. 77-78.

5.) If you are citing the same source in sequence, use Ibid for second citation.

   27. McCoy, Southeast Asia Since 1800, pp. 77-78.
   28. Ibid., pp. 79-80.
   29. Ibid., pp. 80-81.

6.) For details, see, The University of Chicago Press, A Manual of Style.

2.) STEP TWO—Framing the Argument:

a.) Outline: With your reading done, you are ready to outline your argument. Begin by articulating the single, central question you will ask and answer in the course of this paper. Next, write a one- or two-page outline of your essay with the basic components discussed below.

b.) Overall structure: Every scientific report, whether natural or social, has three basic elements—the problem/hypothesis, the evidence/argument, and the conclusion. To summarize very broadly, the introduction asks a question and poses a hypothesis, the argument arrays evidence to explore that hypothesis, and the conclusion reflects upon the original hypothesis in light of the evidence presented.

   Of these three elements, the opening formulation of an hypothesis is, by far, the most difficult. In your opening paragraph, try to stand back from the dense mass of material you have read and articulate a thesis, which usually explains causality (why events occurred) or analyzes significance (the particular import of an event or a pattern of events). Then identify the factors, topics, or elements that you will explore to test your thesis. Ideally, these factors should serve as a broad outline of the topics that you will explore in the next section of your essay, the argument/evidence.
By the time you start writing, you should be able to summarize your argument in the essay’s first sentence with something akin to the following formulation: ‘By applying A to B, the essay will discover/explore C.’ To illustrate, an essay on the Tet Offensive, might begin: ‘By exploring the media coverage of the Tet Offensive, it becomes apparent that a clear U.S. military victory became a major political defeat.’ Here are some further reflections on each of these sections:

1.) The Problem: In your introduction, state the problem clearly. a.) If necessary, you should give your definition of any key terms that require a specific usage (e.g., “revolution.”) b.) In stating your problem, refer to the literature in the syllabus.
   c.) A standard and often effective device is to identify two differing schools of thought about a single problem and offer resolution.
   d.) Make sure you are examining the main point, not a secondary or side issue.

2.) The Evidence: In the middle part of your essay, you must present evidence—through an analytical intertwining of events and factors—to deal with the problem posed at the beginning of your essay. Be specific. Give the reader a brief narrative of an event grounded in some statistical or anecdotal evidence.

3.) The Conclusion: In the final page or two of your essay, reflect on the problem as stated in the introduction in light of the evidence you presented in the middle part of the essay. Stretch the data you present for clarity, but do not exaggerate or over-extend the usefulness of your data.

c.) Level of Argument: Some students produce papers that fill all the demands of the format but do not produce an argument that fully engages the problem.
   1.) Drawing upon reading and lectures, try to frame an argument that seems to address the question in the most direct and significant manner possible, drawing the most convincing possible evidence to support the case you are making.
   2.) By reading several sources with diverse viewpoints and reflecting on the authors’ approaches, you can define an appropriate question and level of analysis.

d.) Nature of History Questions: In courses such as this one, History involves the study of change in large-scale human communities, societies and nations, over time. In general, History essays ask you to understand or explain two aspects of change—events and their causes or, simply, what happened and why it happened. Thus, most History questions ask you to explain elements of the following:
   1.) In a limited period of time, explain the factors underlying a given event. Why did that event happen?
   2.) Explain the impact that an event, such as a war or revolution, had upon a human community within a period succeeding the actual event.
   3.) Over a longer period of time, explain how and why complex communities changed in a given way.

3.) STEP THREE—Writing the Essay:
   a.) Procedure:
   1.) Write an outline of about 2 pages for a 10 to 15 page essay. Each projected paragraph in the essay should be a line in your outline.
   2.) Following your outline, write a first draft taking care to introduce transitional clauses or sentences that allow the reader to follow your argument paragraph by paragraph.
   3.) Reading aloud to yourself, if necessary, edit the prose and produce a second draft.
b.) Sentences:
   1.) Each sentence should be a complete sentence with subject, verb, and direct object.
   2.) Vary your sentences to include short periodic sentences, simple compound sentences, compound sentences with clauses in apposition, and longer sentences communicating detail.

c.) Paragraphs:
   1.) Start your paragraph with “topic sentence”--that is, a periodic or compound sentence stating the basic message of this particular paragraph.
   2.) Varying your sentence structure, elaborate and expand this theme into a fully developed paragraph.
   3.) Within the paragraph, try to link your sentences with words such as “similarly,” “moreover,” and “however” so that they flow from one sentence to another.
   4.) Paragraphs should not be too long. If you need a rough guide, have 3 paragraphs to a page with 8 to 10 typed lines in each.

d.) Aspire to style:
   1.) There is a music--with melody and rhythm--to your writing. Sensitize your mind's ear to the rhythms of your prose. Try to make your writing an expression of your inner voice.
   2.) As in all forms of discourse, there is an appropriate style for an academic essay somewhere between the chatty colloquial and the overly formal.
      a.) Use a formal voice-not ponderous, just formal.
      b.) Avoid contractions (can't, didn't).
      c.) Avoid colloquialisms.
