History 358
Office hours: Tues. 3:30-5:30
5124 Humanities

Reading:
Colin Jones, The Great Nation: France from Louis XV to Napoleon
Paul Johnson, Napoleon
Jacques Ménétria, Journal of My Life
Jean-Jacques Rousseau, Basic Political Writings
Timothy Tackett, When the King Took Flight

This course will focus on the social, cultural, and political history of France from 1660 to 1815, from the absolutist monarchy of Louis XIV through the French Revolution and Napoleonic Era. After examining the structure of Old Regime society and government, we will explore the revolutionary challenge to that order. Particular themes will include absolutist monarchy vs. revolutionary republicanism; the aristocratic world of court; popular politics and the lives of ordinary men and women; the French colonial system and slavery; and the attempt by Enlightenment philosophes and then the French revolutionaries to rethink and transform their world; revolutionary politics, thought, and social reform; and Napoleon’s effort to create a massive European empire.

Reading: The above books are available at the University Bookstore and on reserve in H. C. White library. They are marked with an asterisk (*) in the assignments below. There is also a READER of xeroxed articles and documents available at the Copy Center in 1650 Humanities and on reserve. The reader is required. Readings from the reader are marked "R." Students will have the opportunity to discuss in the readings in weekly discussion sections, which are a required part of the course.

Requirements: All students will take an in-class exam on Thursday, Oct. 27 and a final exam. All students will also write a paper: 4-5 pages for 3-credit students and 10-12 pages for 4-credit students, due on Fri., Dec. 8. These papers will be based on primary sources, and you will be able to choose or create a topic from any time period of the course. Final grades will be based as follows: for 4-credit students: 20% discussion & section participation; 25% midterm exam; 25% paper; 30% final exam; for 3-credit students: 20% discussion & section participation; 25% midterm exam; 20% paper; 35% final exam.

Discussion Grades:
I will be taking attendance every week in discussion. Please bring your readings with you to section and be prepared to talk. Discussion grades will be based on attendance, participation in discussion, and on weekly response papers (see below).

Response Papers:
Every week, I will be posting discussion questions to our class website and asking for your thoughts on the assigned readings. Please post your response on our class website by 3:30PM the day before your section meets.

These response papers are designed to get discussion moving and to give you a chance to chew over some of the more interesting debates in French Revolutionary history. An informal writing style is fine. This is your chance to play devil's advocate, to explain what confused you about the readings, and make off-the-wall observations.
To cut down on the workload, you will not have to post an answer every week. Instead, the class will divide into two groups, each posting every other week. The schedule for the two groups will look like this:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Jacobins</th>
<th>Girondins</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Week of 9/6-9/8: Bossuet and Saint Simon</td>
<td>Week of 9/13-9/15: Bossenga</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week of 10/4-10/6: Dubois &amp; Raynal</td>
<td>Week of 10/11-10/13: Enlightenment Philosophes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week of 10/18-10/20: Rousseau</td>
<td>Week of 11/1-11/3: Sieyes &amp; Declaration</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Week of 12/6-12/8: McPhee &amp; Johnson</td>
<td>Week of 12/13-12/15: Bonaparte</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Even if you are not posting on a given week, please log in and look at what your classmates have written. At the end of the term, you should have posted six responses. This gives you the chance to miss one week. You may, of course, post more often if you would like.

Web Discussion:

To access the web discussion, please use the following steps:

1. Go to http://uwmad.courses.wisconsin.edu
2. Log in. Your user ID is everything before “@wisc.edu” in your email address, and your password is the same as your email password.
3. Follow the link for “History 358” under the heading “My Madison Courses.” If you do not see the link right away, click on the “+” sign next to “2005 - FALL”
4. Click on the “Discussion” link in the upper left corner.
5. Find your section on the left side of the screen. Underneath the heading “Section 30x” there will be a list of topics. Click on the topic for the week’s reading.
6. Here, you can see my question and your fellow students’ posts by clicking on each one. You may add your own observations by hitting “Reply” — either while reading my question post or a colleague’s responses.
7. Hitting “reply” will bring up a screen called “Add Message.” Type in your response paper and hit “Submit.”
8. Your post will appear in a few seconds at the top of the page. You are done. Go ahead and log out.
