When history is offered as one of the required studies in the general course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts (see page 58), the requirement must be satisfied by a continuous three-credit course extending through two semesters.

The courses in history are divided into three groups: (a) Courses numbered under 100 carry only undergraduate credit. The introductory courses 1, 5, and 10 are the courses open to freshmen. Students may take only one of these courses for three credits a semester, since each contains introductory training for which credit ought not to be given twice; that is, if they have had or are taking one of these courses for full credit, another may be taken from this group for two credits a semester only, omitting the supplementary reading and a topical report. Students not registered in the College of Letters and Science may take any of the introductory courses for two credits each semester. Course 349 is primarily for students who expect to teach history in a secondary school. Students are advised not to neglect advanced work in an attempt to cover all of the introductory courses. (b) Courses numbered in the 100 series continue in the direction of greater specialization the work begun in the introductory courses; they may be elected by students who have the necessary preparation. (c) Courses numbered over 200 are open only to graduate students.

HONORS IN HISTORY. Honors in history are awarded upon special examination at the close of the senior year to students who have been accepted as candidates after taking the Admittance-to-Honors examination at the beginning of the junior year. The special studies of these students may be pursued, after agreement with the major professor, in regular courses or in History 180. For further details the department should be consulted.

MAJOR. Not less than 32 nor more than 40 credits in history to include: 6 credits in one of the freshman courses, History 1, 5, or 10; 6 credits in History 4; at least 16 credits in advanced courses at Wisconsin, of which, for upper-group students (see p. 56), 4 shall be devoted to a thesis. Outside the department, Economics 1a and Political Science 1 are required, and Geography 4 is recommended.

TEACHING MAJOR AND MINOR. See School of Education, page 87.
