

Joseph R. Holwell

PhD Candidate
Department of History
University of Wisconsin–Madison
holwell@wisc.edu

Education:

- 2018 M.A. Department of History, University of Wisconsin–Madison
- 2014 M.A. with distinction, Department of History, DePaul University
- 2010 B.A., Illinois State University
Majors: History, Philosophy
Minor: German

Publications:

- 2018 “Political Vengeance of the Liberi Proscriptorum in Sallust’s Bellum Catilinae.”
Roda da Fortuna Revista Eletrônica sobre Antiguidade e Medievo 7, no.2 (2018):
22-40

Awards & Honors:

- 2020 Society for Classical Studies Erich S. Gruen Prize (honorable mention)
- 2020 Departmental Fellowship – Department of History, University of Wisconsin–
Madison (Fall)
- 2020 Edson Fellowship – University of Wisconsin–Madison (Spring)
- 2017 “Best Paper at the M.A. Level,” Graduate Student History Conference – Northern Illinois University
- 2014 “Best Paper in a Graduate Course,” Student History Conference – DePaul
University
- 2014- Graduate Fellowship: Departmental Assistantship – DePaul University
2013

Additional Coursework:

- 2018 “Defining Space: The Frontier in Ancient History,” Universitäten Bremen,
Oldenburg, Osnabrück, September 22-30
- 2015- Graduate Student-at-Large Program – University of Chicago
- 2014
- 2014 Summer Language Institute – University of Chicago (Intensive Intermediate Latin)

2013 Summer Language Institute – University of Chicago (Intensive Introductory Ancient Greek)

Talks Given:

- 2018 “The Problem of ‘Empire’: Combating Rome’s Imperial Legacy, Understanding Native Assimilation,” (Re)Imagining Empire (Borghesi–Mellon Workshop)
- 2018 “Adoption and Innovation: The Construction of Roman Auxiliary Identity in the First Century A.D.,” CANES Graduate Colloquium – University of Wisconsin–Madison: “Constructing Identity in the Ancient World”
- 2017 “Identifying the Poor Along the Germanic Frontier in the First Century A.D.,” History Graduate Student Conference – Loyola University Chicago
- 2017 “Political Vengeance of the Liberi Proscriptorum in Sallust’s Bellum Catilinae,” Graduate Student History Conference – Northern Illinois University
- 2017 “Cultural Reflection and Prescription through Funerary Practices in Sophocles’ Antigone,” Gender and Women’s Studies Graduate Conference – University of Wisconsin–Madison
- 2014- Student History Conference – DePaul University
2013

Conferences Organized:

- 2019- (Re)Imagining Empire (Borghesi-Mellon Workshop), Co-organizer – University
2018 of Wisconsin–Madison

Courses TAed:

History 110 – The Ancient Mediterranean World
History 307 – The History of Rome
History 310 – Greek Civilization
History 112 – The World of Late Antiquity
Classics 322 – The Romans

Employment:

- 2021 Teaching Assistant – University of Wisconsin–Madison
- 2019- Teaching Assistant – University of Wisconsin–Madison
2017
- 2015 Adjunct Faculty, Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences – Joliet Junior College
- 2014- Graduate Assistant – DePaul University
2013