George L. Mosse and the Wisconsin Idea

Join us for a presentation to learn how a new online course is successfully blending old and new media to engage lifelong learners at a distance from the Madison campus.

The course, "What History Tells: George L. Mosse on European Cultural History," revives recorded lectures given by legendary history professor George L. Mosse (1918 to 1999) and allows participants from across the world to engage in dialogue about the history of mass movements and modern society.
