

Curriculum Vitae

Lewis J. Patterson

Education

Undergraduate:

2003 - Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN
B.S. - History, Engineering Science

Graduate:

2009 - Washington State University, Pullman, WA
M.A. - European History, World History

2013 - U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, Ft Leavenworth, KS
M.M.A.S. - Art of War (Military History)

Military:

2003 - Naval Nuclear Power School, Charleston, SC
2004 - Naval Nuclear Prototype Training, Ballston Spa, NY
2004 - Submarine Officer Basic Course, Groton, CT
2007 - Naval Nuclear Engineer School, Groton, CT
2010 - Submarine Officer Advanced Course, Groton, CT
2016 - Submarine Command Course, Pearl Harbor, HI

Research Projects

2002 – Vanderbilt University – OSS assessments of the Soviet Army and Soviet War Effort on the Eastern Front 1938-1945 (Junior Thesis)
2003 – Vanderbilt University – British Press Coverage of the American Secession Crisis 1860-1861 (Senior Thesis)
2007 – Washington State University – British Caricatures of the French in the late 19th century in Elite Culture: Press Coverage, Foreign Office Correspondence, and Parliamentary Debates
2007 – Washington State University – Comparative Study of the Rise of Communalism and Hindutva in India, and the Rise of the Islamic Brotherhood in Egypt
2008 – Washington State University – The Perpetration of Genocide in Bosnia-Herzegovina: a Study of Memory, Politics, and Culture
2009 – Washington State University – Shield of Empire: Race, Memory, and the “Cult of the Navy” in Fin de Siècle Britain (Master’s Thesis)
2013 – Command and General Staff College – The New Manifest Destiny: The Rise of Navalism in Fin de Siècle America (Master’s Thesis) (Winner of the Birrer-Brookes Award, Class 13-02)

Teaching Experience

2007-2009 – Assistant Professor of Naval Science, University of Idaho and Washington State University:
NS 102 – Ships Systems I (Naval Engineering)
NS 202 – Seapower and Maritime Affairs (U.S. Naval History)
NS 499 – Contemporary Issues in Geopolitics: Islam, Latin America, and China in the Modern Global Order