GENDER AND THE JEWISH ARCHIVE

SPEAKER: ELISHEVA CARLEBACH

Monday, 7 November: The Jewish Archives of Early Modern Europe
Chair: Sunny Yudkoff, 213 Pyle Center, 3:30-5:00PM

Tuesday, 8 November: Records and the Forgotten Jewish Women
Chair: Tony Michels, 213 Pyle Center, 3:30-5:00PM

Wednesday, 9 November: Jewish Court Records: Gender and “Jewish Autonomy”
Chair: Michael Paul Martoccio, 5233 Mosse Humanities, 9:00-10:45AM

For Faculty and Grad Students | RSVP to greene7@wisc.edu

Elisheva Carlebach is Salo Baron Professor of Jewish History, Culture, and Society, and Co-Director, Institute for Israel and Jewish Studies, Columbia University. She is the author of The Pursuit of Heresy (National Jewish Book Award); Divided Souls: Jewish Converts to Christianity in Early Modern German Lands; Palaces of Time: Jewish Calendar and Culture in Early Modern Europe (AJS Schnitzer Prize) and Confronting Modernity: 1750-1880, volume 6 in The Posen Library of Jewish Culture and Civilization. She has held fellowships at the New York Public Library Center for Scholars and Writers, the Katz Center at University of Pennsylvania, and the Tikvah Center at NYU Law School. She served as Editor of the AJS Review and as President of the American Academy for Jewish Research. In 2017 she was awarded the Lenfest Distinguished Faculty Award of Columbia University.