Traces the formation of the states and societies that compose the contemporary Middle East. How have global phenomena, including two world wars, the Cold War, women's movements, and modern science, technology, and fossil fuels, affected the politics, culture, and daily lives of Middle Eastern people? What is Islamism, and how should we explain its influence? Why has the United States had such a troubled relationship with this part of the world? Balances a generally thematic approach with several weeks of country-specific studies, including Iran, Saudi Arabia, Egypt, Syria, and Israel and the Palestinian territories.
Course Overview

Course Requisite: None

Course Designations, Attributes, and Mode of Instruction:
Level - Elementary
Breadth - Humanities or Social Science
Mode - Face-to-Face/Blended

Explanation of credit hours
This 4-credit course meets as a group for 4 hours per week. The course also carries the expectation that you will spend an average of at least 2 hours outside of class for every hour in the classroom. In other words, in addition to class time, plan to allot an average of at least 8 hours per week for reading, writing, and preparing for discussions.

Course Goals/Learning Outcomes
Students completing this course will be able to:
→ Identify the origins of the Middle East nation-states;
→ Compare the larger Middle East nation-states in terms of politics, economy, and society;
→ Analyze trends in the development of U.S. relations with the Middle East;
→ Explain the modern Middle East in terms of global processes of change;
→ Use primary sources to support all of the above.

Course Materials
You will access course readings and other materials in the following ways:

  → Available from many booksellers and on reserve in College Library.
  → I encourage you to use the fifth edition of Gelvin’s textbook (2020). The fourth edition (2016) is acceptable. If you use a fourth edition, page numbers will sometimes vary slightly from the page numbers on the syllabus, and the final two chapters differ substantively.

- Find on Canvas, in weekly modules: all other assigned readings, assigned films, and supplementary materials. Note: you may purchase a course packet with the additional readings if you prefer to have them in hard copy. The course packet is available from the L&S Copy Center, Sewell Hall Room 6120, 1180 Observatory Dr.

- All assignments will be posted and turned in on Canvas.
Communication

Office Hours
We welcome your questions and ideas about the course. Office hours are also a good time to discuss any challenges you are facing in the course.

Prof. Stolz: Fridays 9-11am, on Zoom (link on Canvas). In person by appointment.

TA Matt Ferens: Wednesday 12-1pm, Thursday 1:30-2:30pm, Mosse Humanities Bldg. room 4268. Walk-Ins welcome; appointments may be scheduled on Calendly (link on Canvas). Zoom meetings available by appointment.

Email
We use email to send updates about the course. Please check your email regularly. We try to answer email within 24 hours on weekdays. Please follow up with us if you don’t hear back in 48 hours, or sooner in an emergency.

Assessment

Components of Course Grade
Orientation quiz (3%): Complete by 11:59pm on Monday 9/12. Covers course expectations. You may retake for full credit if desired.

Participation in lecture meetings (10%): contribute to class learning through critical analysis of course materials and respectful, productive engagement with other students’ views. (See participation rubric below). Your completion of the weekly “exit responses” count toward one-half of this grade, i.e. 5% of your course grade.

Participation in discussion section (20%): contribute to class learning through critical analysis of course materials and respectful, productive engagement with other students’ views; complete preparation for section discussions as directed by TA. (See participation rubric below.)

“Closer Look” Essays (8x4%=32%): a series of one-page responses to questions about an assigned reading or film. Complete 8 out of 10, or complete more and drop your low grade(s). This assignment recurs from weeks 2 to 12, except in week 6 (when the midterm essay is due).

Midterm Essay, due Sunday 10/19 at 11:59pm (10%): a two-page essay answering a question about a primary source, which you will select from a list of options to be made available on October 5th.

Timeline Editor Assignment (10%): due once during the semester, at a time for which you will sign up. For more details, see “Timeline Assignment” materials on Canvas.
Timeline Essay (15%): due Monday, 12/19, 11:59pm. A four-page essay that makes an argument interpreting your section’s timeline of Middle East history. For more details, see “Timeline Assignment” materials on Canvas.

Honors Assignment: if you registered for the honors option in this course, please discuss an honors assignment with Prof. Stolz by Nov. 1st. Honors assignments are due Dec. 14th.

This course is graded on an A, AB, B, BC, C, D, F scale:

A = 93-100
AB = 88-92
B = 82-87
BC = 77-81
C = 72-76
D = 67-71
F = 66 or below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Participation Rubric</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Excellent (90-100)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-Mastery over readings and previous discussion -Consistent preparation and involvement -Offers analysis of texts in class</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-Explores questions rigorously -Comes to class with interpretations and questions -Engages others</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Policies

Academic Integrity
You are responsible for knowing and following the university’s policies on academic integrity, which can be found here: https://conduct.students.wisc.edu/academic-integrity/

In general, work that you turn in for this course should be yours alone. For the final essay, it is understood that you will reference your classmates’ contributions to your section timeline. For more details, see timeline assignment materials on Canvas.

Late Policy
Late work will lose one half-grade for each day past the deadline. For example, work ordinarily meritig an AB will receive a B if submitted one day late, and an F if five or more days late. However, for the midterm essay, OR for one of the “closer look” assignments, you may hand in work late for “passing” (70%) credit until 11:59pm on Study Day, which is Thursday, December 15th, at 11:59pm. Due to the need to submit course grades promptly at the end of the semester, we cannot accept any work other than the final assignment after December 15th, and we cannot grant any extensions on the final assignment. If you suffer an emergency at the end of the semester, you may be eligible for an incomplete.

Disability Accommodations
You are welcome to discuss your learning needs with me and/or the TA. If you plan to request disability accommodations in this course, please register with the McBurney Disability Resource Center as soon as possible. Here is the University’s policy:

The University of Wisconsin-Madison supports the right of all enrolled students to a full and equal educational opportunity. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), Wisconsin State Statute (36.12), and UW-Madison policy (JW-855) require the university to provide reasonable accommodations to students with disabilities to access and participate in its academic programs and educational services. Faculty and students share responsibility in the accommodation process. Students are expected to inform faculty [me] of their need for instructional accommodations during the beginning of the semester, or as soon as possible after being approved for accommodations. Faculty will work either directly with the student or in coordination with the McBurney Center to provide reasonable instructional and course-related accommodations. Disability information, including instructional accommodations as part of a student’s educational record, is confidential and protected under FERPA.

Emergency Accommodations
If your semester is disrupted due to health circumstances (including mental health) or another emergency, the TA and I will offer you reasonable accommodations to continue your progress in this course without penalty. Please note that the success of this process depends on your timely communication with us. For relevant resources, see p. 7.

Covid
You must know and follow all university Covid policies. Willful violations may result in discipline for nonacademic misconduct. See https://covidresponse.wisc.edu

Recording and use of course videos
Please do not record in-person meetings of this course. In general, I do not record our Zoom meetings. You will be notified if I am recording a Zoom meeting. Please do not circulate the videos that I produce for this course to people who are not currently enrolled in the course.
How to Succeed in This Course

Matt and I want to help you succeed in this course. Here are three big steps you can take to succeed: understand the purpose of the course components; keep track of your jobs in the course; and ask for help.

1) Steps you can take to understand the purpose of the course components:
   • Read the syllabus carefully, and return to it throughout the semester. Pay special attention to course goals (p. 2), course rhythm (p. 8), and the titles of different days, weeks, and units of the course.
   • Attend both lecture and section meetings regularly. You can’t just do the readings and assignments. That’s like trying to read a book when all you have is a stack of pages in random order. Class is where we help you figure out how it all fits together and what it means.
   • Notice terms that I often use to signal key points, like “question of the day,” “takeaways,” and “conclusions.”
   • Consult the help resources on Canvas, especially “Tips on Reading and Preparing for Course Meetings.”
   • Ask questions in class.
   • Attend office hours.

2) Things you can do to keep track of your jobs in this course:
   • Read the syllabus carefully, and return to it throughout the semester. Pay special attention to assignment dates and descriptions (pp. 2-3), in addition to course rhythm (p. 8). Understand the late policy (p. 4).
   • Regularly check the course website, especially “This Week’s Materials” and “Next Week’s Materials.”
   • Read the assignment prompt carefully before beginning an assignment, and read it again before you turn in your work. Is it clear how you have responded to the question we asked you?
   • Familiarize yourself with the timeline assignment materials early in the semester, and sign up for your week as timeline editor.
   • Read our comments on your assignments.
   • Ask questions in class.
   • Attend office hours.

3) Ask for help. You can ask for help from either instructor in this course, or from staff at any of the campus resource centers listed at the bottom of this page. When thinking about whether and how to ask for help, please consider:
   • Communication is essential.
   • What kind of help do you need? Bring questions about course content and assignments to an instructor. For disability accommodations, in-depth writing support, health services, or technical support, use the campus centers listed on the next page—and talk to an instructor about how these issues are affecting your work in the course.
Campus Resource Centers

Disability Accommodations and Sources: the McBurney Center
The McBurney Center serves “UW-Madison students with physical, learning, hearing, vision, psychological, health and other disabilities substantially affecting a major life activity.” See McBurney Disability Resource Center – UW–Madison (wisc.edu). The Center can arrange a variety of accommodations, including but not limited to notetaking services, extra time on exams, and alternative formats for course materials. Students should register with the Center and communicate with instructors as soon as possible to begin the accommodations process.

University Health Services
As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning. These might include strained relationships, anxiety, high levels of stress, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, or loss of motivation. University Health Services can help with these or other issues you may experience. Help is always available. You can learn about free, confidential mental health services available to you; call 608-265-6600 (option 2) or visit uhs.wisc.edu.

Writing Support: The History Lab
The History Lab is a resource center where experts (PhD students) will assist you with your history papers. No matter your stage in the writing process — choosing a topic, conducting research, composing a thesis, outlining your argument, revising your drafts — the History Lab can help you sharpen your skills and become a more successful writer. Go to: https://history.wisc.edu/undergraduate-program/the-history-lab/

Digital Assignment Support: Design Lab – Located in College Library, Design Lab provides one-on-one help for students working on digital assignments. By appointment. https://designlab.wisc.edu/ Note: our TAs in the History Lab can sometimes help with digital history assignments as well.

General Tech Support
The DoIT help desk offers general tech support for Canvas and other platforms supported by UW. They can also direct you to resources for dealing with bandwidth problems. https://it.wisc.edu/services/help-desk/.

Remember: in addition to seeking help from campus centers, it is important to let your instructors know if health issues are affecting your work in the course. You do not need to disclose personal details to us to receive appropriate accommodations.
Course Modality and Rhythm

This course is offered in a “blended” modality. Most meetings are in-person; some synchronous meetings and asynchronous activities take place online. The blended format promotes learning by offering students additional methods of engagement with the material, with each other, and with the instructors. To take advantage of this opportunity, many students find it useful to think of the course as having a “rhythm,” by which certain tasks repeat during the week and across the semester. Understanding the course rhythm helps you structure your time and keep up with the course at a manageable pace.

Note: a visualization of the court rhythm is available on Canvas, under the welcome module.

Each week of the course includes the following components:

Monday and Wednesday 11:00-11:50am: In-Person Lectures with Professor Stolz. These lectures introduce the main topics of the week. They complement and do not replicate the textbook readings for the week. In addition, many of these meetings include discussion of a short reading from beyond the textbook—often a primary source. Please complete these readings by the date on which they appear on the schedule of meetings (see below).

Thursday: In-Person Discussion Section. Led by TA Matt Ferens, who is a PhD student in Art History, these sections meet in person at a time for which you have registered. Prepare for discussion section by completing weekly readings and/or films, and by synthesizing these materials with the lectures. More information on preparing for section will be provided by your TA.

Friday 11:00-11:50am: Online Meetings/Activities with Prof. Stolz. Most Friday meetings will include a synchronous lecture, typically shorter than the M/W lectures. These online meetings will include time for students to complete a very brief “exit slip” assignment in which you summarize your learning from the week in 2-3 sentences, to which Prof. Stolz will respond. Some online meetings will be used to introduce the TimlineJS tool with which you will be working throughout the semester, and to develop your facility with this storytelling technology.

A “closer look” assignment: most weeks of the course (weeks 3-11, except week 6) include a “closer look” reading, which provides in-depth exploration of a specific topic. A one-page response to a question about this reading is due at the end of the day on Sunday. You do NOT need to prepare to discuss these readings in class.

In addition to its weekly components, the course also includes the following occasional assignments: an orientation quiz, one “timeline editor” assignment during a week of your choosing, one midterm essay, and two final assignments.

More information on assignments appears under “Assessment,” on pages 2-3.
Schedule of Lecture Topics and Readings

Note: this schedule does not include the Thursday section meetings. Your TA will provide you with a separate syllabus for your section. However, in most weeks, the readings and films to prepare for section are the ones already listed under the lecture meetings below.

PART 1: MODERN STATE AND SOCIETY TAKE SHAPE IN THE 19TH CENTURY

WEEK 1: INTRODUCTIONS

W 9.7: What makes a region?

- Into to course goals and expectations
- Into to Middle East geography and the idea of the “Middle East” as a region

F 9.9: The Crises of the Late Ottoman Empire. Online synchronous lecture & response.

Optional reading: Gelvin, pp. 9-55 (surveys Mideast and Islamic history prior to course coverage).

WEEK 2: ARMIES AND EDUCATION IN THE AGE OF REFORM

M 9.12: Egypt under Mehemd Ali Pasha: Reform by Force

W 9.14: The Tanzimat: Late Ottoman Reform in Rhetoric and Practice. Online/synchronous.

F 9.16: What was happening in Iran? Intro to late Qajar society

WEEK 3: PEASANTS AND WORKERS IN THE FIRST AGE OF GLOBALIZATION

M 9.19: Globalization in the Countryside

W 9.21: Foreign Capital and Middle East Labor

Read: Khater (ed.), “A Coal Miner’s Life During the Late Ottoman Empire,” pp. 47-56 (on Canvas).

F 9.23: Middle East Cities in the First Age of Globalization. Online synchronous lecture and “tour.”

Week 4: New Cultural and Social Movements

M 9.26: Print and the Arabic Nahda. This class will be offered as a recorded lecture to avoid conflict with the Jewish New Year (Rosh Hashanah). We will not meet in person.

W 9.28: Muslim Reformists

F 9.30: Debating Women, and Women Debating Online synchronous lecture and response.

Week 5: The Old Order Begins to Fall Before World War I

M 10.3: Financial Imperialism? State Bankruptcy and the British Occupation of Egypt

W 10.5: Iran’s Constitutional Movement. This class will be offered as a recorded lecture in order to avoid conflict with the Jewish holiday of Yom Kippur. We will not meet in person.

Read: “The Supplementary Fundamental Law of 7 October 1907” (in Gelvin, pp. 182-185),

F 10.7: The Young Turk Revolution. Online synchronous lecture and response.

Read: Gökalp, Turkish Nationalism and Western Civilization, excerpts (on Canvas).

Week 6: World War I and the Post-Ottoman Order

M 10.10: The Great War and Ethnic Cleansing in the Middle East

W 10.12: The Mandate System and the post-Ottoman Political Map

Read: Khater (ed.), the Huseyn-McMahon Correspondence; the Balfour Declaration and related documents, pp. 104-108, 110-112(on Canvas).

F 10.14: Midterm check-in: Online synchronous session to review part I of course and workshop skills in TimelineS.

Midterm Paper Due Sunday, 10/16, at 11:59pm. No “closer look” assignment this week.
PART 2: NATION-STATES EMERGE IN THE 20TH CENTURY

Week 7: Egypt and Syria: Anti-Colonial Nationalism, Pan-Arabism, and the Military Republic

M 10.17: Egypt: Nasser and the Pan-Arab Dream

W 10.19: Syria: from Mass Politics to Family Rule

Read: Quth, Milestones (in Gelvin, pp. 372-74).

Week 8: Iran and Saudi Arabia: Oil, the Cold War, and Islamic Government

M 10.24: Saudi Arabia: the Wahhabi Mission and the House of Saud

W 10.26: Iran: from Monarchy to Islamic Republic

Watch Bashu: The Little Stranger (streaming on Canvas).

F 10.28: Oil and the Middle Eastern States. Online synchronous Timeline/S workshop; also watch short asynchronous lecture video

Week 9: Algeria, Yemen, and the Eastern Arabian Kingdoms: Decolonization in the Middle East

M 10.31: The Algerian War and Independence

Watch: The Battle of Algiers (streaming on Canvas)

W 11.2 Decolonization and Civil War in Yemen

Read: Lackner, “Why Yemen Matters,” excerpts (on Canvas only, not in course pack)

Week 10: Iraq, Turkey, and the Kurds

M 11.7: Iraq from the Hashemites to Saddam Hussein
History 139 The Modern Middle East / Fall 2022

Read: Bashkin, “Baghdadi Jews and the Wathba” (Canvas)

W 11.9: Turkey between Republic and Military Rule

Read: primary source: “Speech Delivered by Ghazi Mustapha Kemal,” pp. 738-741 (on Canvas);

Watch Journey to the Sun (streaming on Canvas).

Instead of F 11.11 meeting: Online asynchronous lecture, “At the Margins of the Nation-State: the Kurds in Iraq and Turkey”: watch before section on Thursday to prepare for discussion of film.

WEEK 11: ISRAEL AND PALESTINE

M 11.14: Origins of the Jewish and Palestinian National Movements

W 11.16: The Arab-Israeli Wars: The Conflict in Regional and International Context

F 11.18 Hamas, the Settler Movement, and the Two-State Solution. Online synchronous lecture and response.

Due Sunday 11.20: “Closer look” response to Feige, “’Where It All Began’: Archaeology, Nationalism, and Fundamentalism in Silwan” (Canvas).

WEEK 12: THE U.S. IN THE MIDDLE EAST: FOREIGN POLICY, DOMESTIC POLITICS

M 11.21: From World War II to Camp David: The Cold War and Oil

W 11.23: In search of a strategy: from the Peace Process to the Global War on Terror

Thanksgiving Break: no section meeting and no Friday meeting this week.
PART 3: “THE PEOPLE WANT THE FALL OF THE REGIME”

WEEK 13: DEBATING ISLAM AND POLITICS
M 11.28: The Islamic Revival

W 11.30: Jihadism in Global Context
Read: Bin Laden, “Messages to the World,” pp. 213-221, 227-232 (on Canvas). Note: additional readings on jihadism may be uploaded to canvas.

F 12.2: Sectarian Politics and the Lebanese Civil War: Online synchronous lecture and response.

WEEK 14: REVOLUTION AND COUNTERREVOLUTION: EXPLAINING THE ARAB SPRING

M 12.5: The Uprisings of 2009-2011
Read: Gelvin, pp. 321-347 (“Resistance”)

W 12.7: Egypt: The Endurance of Military Rule
Watch The Square (streaming on Canvas, also on Netflix).

F 12.9: Syria’s Descent. Online synchronous lecture and discussion (no response).

WEEK 15: HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE AND THE MIDDLE EAST TODAY
M 12:12: The Middle East Political Order in the 21st Century: Lessons from the Rise and Fall of ISIS
Read: Gelvin, p. 348-362 (“A New Middle East?”)

W 12.14: History and the Middle East Today (final lecture)

HONORS OPTION STUDENTS: Honors Assignment due 12/14 at 11:59pm.

ALL STUDENTS: Deadline to turn in 1 late assignment for passing credit: 12/15 at 11:59pm (see page 4).

ALL STUDENTS: final essay due Monday 12/19 at 11:59pm.