

History 201 The Woman Warrior

Professor Mary Louise Roberts, Fall 2023

Wednesdays 1:20-3:10, 2251 Humanities

University of Wisconsin Madison

Lydia Litvyak, Soviet Air Pilot, Second World War

“I hate wars and violence, but if they come than I don’t see why we women should just wave a proud good-bye and then knit them balaclavas.” – Nancy Wake, S.O.E. agent

This in-person course will introduce students to historical research by exploring the topic of women warriors in the United States and Europe. The recent Russian invasion of Ukraine has produced an image some still find unfamiliar: women engaged in combat. In fact, the woman warrior has existed as long as war itself. We will explore these women warriors in the two world wars in Europe. Some questions we will ask are: What happens when the industrialization of war enables women to fight in combat roles? What special challenges did women face on the battlefield or in resistance movements? How did they negotiate their identities as both women and warriors? We will probe memoirs, diaries, and oral histories as well as historical narratives.

Learning Goals

In this class you will learn to 1. Ask Questions: develop the habit of asking questions, including questions that may generate new directions for historical research. Develop historical questions through engagement with primary sources, secondary literature, and/or broader ethical, theoretical, or political questions. Ask historical questions to guide individual research. Pose questions to prompt productive group discussion. 2. Find Sources: learn the logic of footnotes, bibliographies, search engines, libraries, and archives, and consult them to identify and locate source materials. Identify the purposes, limitations, authorities, and parameters of various search engines available both through the library and on the world-wide web. Take advantage of the range of library resources, including personnel. Locate printed materials, digital materials, and other objects. Be aware of, and able to use, interlibrary loan. 3. Evaluate Sources: determine the perspective, credibility, and utility of source materials. Distinguish between primary and secondary material for a particular topic. Determine, to the extent possible, conditions of production and preservation. Consider the placement of sources in relation to other kinds of documents and objects. Identify the perspective or authorial stance of a source. Summarize an argument presented in a text. Distinguish between the content of a source and its meaning in relation to a particular question. 4. Develop and Present an Argument: use sources appropriately to create, modify, and support tentative conclusions and new questions. Write a strong, clear thesis statement. Revise and rewrite a thesis statement based on additional research or analysis. Identify the parts of an argument necessary to support a thesis convincingly. Cite, paraphrase, and quote evidence appropriately to support each part of an argument. 5. Plan Further Research: draw upon preliminary research to develop a plan for further investigation. Write a research proposal, including a tentative argument, plan for research, annotated bibliography, and abstract. Identify the contribution of an argument to existing scholarship. 6. Communicate Findings Effectively: make formal and informal, written and oral presentations tailored to specific audiences. Write a clearly argued, formal academic paper, using appropriate style and bibliographic apparatus. Deliver a concise, effective, formal verbal presentation with appropriate supporting material. Contribute constructively to discussion, whether proposing or responding to an idea

Credits:

The prerequisite of this 3 credit course is a satisfied Communications A requirement. The credit standard is met by an expectation of a total of 135 hours of student engagement with the course's learning activities (at least 45 hours per credit), which include regularly scheduled instruction, student meeting times during my office hours, reading, writing, field trips, and other student work as described in the syllabus.

Requirements

Course attendance and participation 25%. Each week's reading assignment averages 150 pages. Please read the assignment and come to class ready to sharpen your communication skills by discussing and asking questions about the material.

Research Presentation. 15%. Once during the semester, you will be asked to answer the "Presentation Question" by giving a brief lecture to the class. Presentations should be 5-7 minutes. You will be graded on your ability to stick to the required time frame; the clarity and organization of your lecture, and your ability to field questions concisely at the end.

Reading Responses: 20%. During the course of the semester you will complete five brief reading responses based on the question asked in the weekly assignment. These are not opportunities to express your "opinion" or whether you "like" the reading. Rather, they are extremely precise and cogent 2 page essays (450-500 words), for 10 pages in all. No quotes should be included, but you should back up your arguments by referring to specific page numbers. Students will be provided with models of these response papers at the beginning of the semester. Due to Canvas at classtime.

Final Research Paper 30% You will write an 10 page (2500 words) research paper on one woman warrior or another theme/topic we have dealt with in the course. To help you break down and prepare for this task, there will be a research proposal of 3 pages (750-800 words) due November 1, and a rough draft of 7 pages (1750 words) due November 22. The final paper will be due December 13 at 5pm to Canvas.

In the skill workshop, which will constitute part of class time each week, you will learn all the steps you need to write this paper. A bibliography at the end of the syllabus can help you get started choosing a topic and beginning research. Your rough drafts will be turned in to Prof Roberts and shared with other students, so that you can get and respond to feedback on your work. This paper will be graded on the depth and breadth of your research, the clarity and importance of your argument, and the written execution of your narrative.

Final Presentation: 10% On the last day of class you will be asked to give a 5-7 minute presentation of your research. As in the Research Presentation, you will be graded on your ability to stick to the required time frame; the clarity and organization of your lecture and your ability to field questions concisely at the end.

Presentation Question (5-7 minutes) Using Gullace and one other source of choice, find out more information about the white feather campaign. Was it exclusive to England and the First World War?
Skill Workshop: Figuring out the historical question and the argument in a secondary source

September 27: Russian women in the Second World War I
Reading: R. Marwick and E.C. Cardona, Soviet Women on the Frontline in the Second World War, 7-31 (Canvas) Svetlana Alexievich, The Unwomanly Face of War, xiii-xliii; 3-112
Response Question. What motivated these women to fight on the front?
Presentation Question (5-7 minutes) Using Marwick and Cardona and one other source, explain why so many Soviet women fought at the front while women elsewhere largely did not.
Skill Workshop: Analysing oral history narratives; doing comparative history

October 4: Russian Women in the Second World War II
Reading: Alexievich, The Unwomanly Face of War, 113—206
Response Question. Why would a female combatant at the front wear high heels rather than boots (42) or sleep with earrings (187)?
Presentation Question (5-7 minutes) Using two outside sources, find out what happened to these Soviet women combatants after the war.
Skill workshop: Visit to Library; learning about archival and other research sources in the library, more instruction on source research

October 11: Partisans and Library Visit
Readings: Barbara Jancar-Webster, Women and Revolution in Yugoslavia, 1941-1945 (1990), 124-167 (Canvas) Lucie Aubrac, Outwitting the Gestapo , 9-83
Response Question: How do the Yugoslavian partisans compare with the Russian woman combatants? Explain one similarity and one difference.
Presentation question (5-7 minutes) Using two outside sources, give students the necessary historical context on the Resistance. What was the French Resistance? How did it function? What kinds of “resistant” activities were performed by men and women in the Resistance?
Skill Workshop: How to choose a research topic and begin exploration

II Women in the Resistance

October 18 France
Reading: Lucie Aubrac, Outwitting the Gestapo , 103-177, 188-199, 222-230.
Response Question. Why does Lucie Aubrac fit her story into the nine months she conceived and gave birth to her daughter?
Presentation question (5-7 minutes) Using at least two sources, find out about Madeleine Fourcade, another prominent member of the Resistance. Who was she? What did she accomplish? How was she like/unlike Lucie Aubrac?
Skill Workshop: How to develop an historical question

October 25 Inside and Outside the Ghetto
Readings: Hayes, Peter. Why?: Explaining the Holocaust , 240-258. (Canvas) Vladka Meed, On Both Sides of the Wall , Chaps. 1-24 (9-155)
Response Question: Compare Lucie Aubrac and Vladka Meed. What is the main difference between them in terms of the wars they fight?
Presentations Question: (5-7 minutes) Give students the necessary historical context on the Warsaw ghetto and the Warsaw ghetto uprising.
Skill Workshop: How to write a research proposal

November 1 Inside Leningrad
Reading: 5 page RESEARCH PROPOSAL DUE Simon and Perlina, Writing the Siege of Leningrad , pp. 1-94
Response Question: Can these women of Leningrad be considered “women warriors”? Why or why not? Give two-three reasons for your argument.
Presentation Question (5-7 minutes): Give students more context about the siege of Leningrad using the “Foreword” by Bidlack in the Simon and Perlina.
Skill workshop: Organizing your research.

November 8–Spies
Reading and Listening: Gordon Thomas and Greg Lewis, Shadow Warriors , Introduction and Chapter 10 (Canvas) Nancy Wake, The White Mouse , 101-155. Imperial War Museum (London) Oral History. Story of Beatrice Jackman, Reel One, Danish spy and resistant. Jackman, Beatrice (Oral history) Imperial War Museums (iwm.org.uk) Canvas)
Response Question: Distinguish three personal qualities which make Nancy Wake such an effective woman warrior
Presentation Question (5-7 minutes) Using the Thomas and Lewis, put Nancy Wake into a large context concerning other women SOE spies. How was her experience typical? Atypical?
Skill workshop: Refining your Historical Questions

November 15 Imprisonment
Reading: Sarah Helm, Ravensbruck , Prologue, xvii-xxiv; Chapter 9-10,12-14,16-17, 19-21 Imperial War Museum, Oral History, Story of Hortense Augustine Daman Clews, Reel 10, Belgian Resistance Member sent to Ravensbruck Daman Clews, Hortense Augustine (Oral history) Imperial War Museums (iwm.org.uk)
Response Question: Explain one or two ways in which these women, even when imprisoned, continued to be warriors.
Presentation Question: (5-7 minutes) Using Helm and one other source, give the students historical background on Ravensbruck.
Skill Workshop: Writing rough drafts

III. Women in Uniform

November 22 –NO CLASS. Thanksgiving
7 PAGE ROUGH DRAFT DUE. Send one copy to Professor Roberts and one copy to another student.
